

Victorian Members Meeting

Jono Craven from Gippsland Water

Jono will be presenting information from his Churchill Fellowship that will cover compost production, technology, research, agricultural use and compost quality standards.

Jono Craven is the manager of Gippsland Water's Agribusiness, a farming business covering 9,500 Ha across the Gippsland Region. This business is focused on the sustainable production of Cattle, Crops, Fodder and Forestry utilising "Revive" compost and biological inputs. Jono also works closely with Gippsland Water's SORF to produce and promote the 80,000 T of "Revive" compost produced each year.

Jono has been focused on sustainable agricultural systems and the building of healthy soils for 20 years across a range of agricultural production systems in four states of Australia.

In 2015 Jono was awarded a Churchill Fellowship to travel and investigate "The effective recycling of urban and agricultural wastes to provide positive outcomes for agriculture". During his travels Jono visited range of production systems in both composting and agriculture in Israel, Austria, Germany, The Netherlands, the UK, USA and Canada over a nine - week period.
